

Bagger Rebuild Program

Trade in the unit on the left for the one on the right and save substantially on capital expenditures.

Are you still operating CT70 or Mark50 Baggers in your facility? If these 1970 era units or a rebuild of one is still in use, (or even sitting around unused), and upgrading or replacing them is planned as a future expenditure, you should know that you have an alternative to that new equipment purchase, one that is considerably less expensive than a new unit, and works just like new.

We take your old unit and re-use as much of it as possible, taking the core frame, body, guards and as many other mechanical parts as feasible, then refurbish, refinish, powder coat and restore it to like new condition. Then we add in the mechanical parts that must be replaced, replace the bearings, drives, sprockets, gearboxes, belting, chains and anything else needed to put it into top mechanical condition. The unit then receives a complete electrical system modernization with the addition of modern machine safety and control components, PLC based automation and a Touchscreen operator interface. By the time we are done you have a virtually new machine at a fraction of the cost. Why discard your assets, when you can redeploy them as sustainable resources while saving on your long term-capital operating expenses.
